A MONTHLY NEWSLETTER CELEBRATING AND SPOTLIGHTING MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mt. View Branch Library Receives LEED Gold; Celebration held April 19th

Senator Mark Begich and Mayor Dan Sullivan were in Mt. View to celebrate the Mt. View Branch Library's LEED certification. LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) is an internationally recognized green building standard. The Mt. View Library as a certified LEED Gold building will use resources more efficiently when compared to conventional buildings built simply to code. LEED Gold is one of the highest levels of sustainable green building design and the Mt. View Library is one of the first buildings in Alaska to reach this important standard. The celebration held at Bragaw and Mt. View Drive was well attended.

Clark MS Kids Partner with Parks and Recreation; Complete Final Designs for WB Lyons Park

The process of design development for William B Lyons Park has been unique. Along with a Very Important Parks committee, landscape architects Kevin Doniere and Chad Taylor volunteered to work with local students exploring the profession of Landscape Architecture. A class was designed by Ms. Heather McIntyre which included a site visit, evaluation, and exploration for design concepts. The second semester class began a design-intensive effort with the concept of Global Village. The collaborative park renovation ideas will begin construction early summer (see design below).

RESIDENT SPOTLIGHT - FRANCES RAMEY

Hi, I'm Frances and here's a few reasons why I like living in Mt. View. I drove to Alaska in 1999 from Chicago, and I've been a property owner since 2005. I like the neighborhood restaurants like the Mt. View Diner, Jamico's, and the 24-hr McDonald's. I live on the 100 block of Meyer St. which is ideal for me because it's a quiet and secluded cul-de-sac. Across the street are woods which I call "my winter wonderland", and in the summer there's great traffic on the Ship Creek trail. Sometimes at the wee hours of the night when it's windy the trees put on a private dance just for me with the cool breeze and the sound of whistling in the air. Every blue moon I'll hear a train's horn and think to myself, "there goes the Alaska Railroad". In the wintertime it's great to walk indoors at the Northway Mall and now we have Glenn Square which is an added convenience for my shopping needs, and if I choose, to have surrounded by companies on Commercial I hear the hustle and bustle of morning favorite bus route 45 which runs as early as depended on that bus to handle all my affairs vacation! I must say I do miss the 45G which congested, but we the people will change that. work, my favorite is the different Faces of Mt. community. It lights up at night and I have structures, and expressions, all in my View Drive is what I call my "one stop shop the library, and the Red Apple all at my finger Ann's for some odds and ends. Bethel Chapel on Price Street. My pastor is Pastor Evans, he in turn lifts my spirits up through my trials programs in Mt. View - one is at Leake Temple and the other is at the Mt. View Lion's Club. These programs help to get people who have fallen an opportunity to get free help. The Mt. View Community Council informs the community about upcoming events and I'm able to ask questions and give feedback on different matters. Mt. View is an up and coming back community. It's reasonable to live here and it's a small resident community that raises a well-rounded individual. Cook Inlet Housing Authority has been another added plus as a positive landlord in our community. I would like to close on this note, in 2005, 2006, and 2007 a child got hit crossing the street at Meyer and Richmond. I was not fortunate to have kids, but I saw the problem like others did. In 2010, I along with another friends went door to door with a city petition. We now have a stop sign and two speed humps on Richmond. This is our community and it is what we make it. Pick something wrong, ask for help, and get "Rr" done, so we all can benefit from each other! Let's regain the live spirit of Mountain View.
