HB__ concerning violence against health care providers, is to remove some of the hurdles that prevent prosecution for assault.

The usual discussions are ongoing regarding various budget matters. There is a greater emphasis on creating a percent of market value (POMV) approach to use of the permanent fund earnings to pay for a portion of state expenditures.

In response to a question, Representative Kopp indicated that it was his understanding that a one dollar change in value for oil held over the full fiscal year would result in a $30 million gain or loss to the state given current production levels and tax policies.

Nancy Burke, with Mayor Berkowitz's office, noted that in addition to being a liaison for the BKCC and other community councils, the main part of her work involves dealing with homeless people and related housing issues. It is the goal of the MOA to get the homeless into housing as a first step to recovery. Ms. Burke advised that the winter data collection to assess how many people were living outside had just been completed. The estimate is 82 people. This compares with 79 people for the same time last year. The number of people living outside in summer is much higher.

It would just be a pavement preservation project with some possible asphalt surfacing of a pull out or two along the Potter marsh area.

Deena Mitchell, running for the Anchorage School District board, also gave a short presentation.

A visitor from the ACLU asked why she was attending the meeting and during discussion reported that they are not suing the MOA over current efforts to help the homeless.
