Frank,

See Judy Caminer's question below. This park is in the RCCC area.

This could be a good topic to hash out at the community council level.

Hi John, hope you are having some time to get outside even with the wind.

Over a month ago we noticed this park on the map and thought it would be interesting to explore. But if you go to either Cannon Woods or Noorgard, the street signs say the street name with an oval at the top saying private. If you turn in there are all sorts of private property signs.

I called Parks and found out there may be access from 140th but you have to cross the creek which is not really practical. I've spoken with 2-3 people who are researching whether these roads are truly private and speaking with the Muni attorney. I don't know when to expect an answer or why this is so difficult.
