Do you have questions about the Anchorage School District budget and budget process? The School Board invites you to share your questions and get answers. There are two ways in which to participate—you can come ask in person, or email your questions to school-board@asdk12.org. As the event progresses, questions will be handed to School Board members for real-time, direct answers.

Any email questions not answered will receive a follow up from a School Board member.
