- Community Council Boundaries 10 Year Review Process

- The review process is resuming
 - The project began in late 2022 with an online questionnaire.
 - The project continued in 2023 with community council consultations and six meetings of the project's Boundary Advisory Committee.
 - The municipal Planning Department has released the public hearing draft recommended district boundaries on the project web page. The recommendations reflect the outcomes of the 2023 public process.
 - The public hearing draft materials identify 9 study areas that are recommended to have boundary changes, although most districts and boundary areas that were studied are not recommended to change.

- Public Review Schedule. The upcoming schedule includes:
 - The public comment period will extend through November, December, and January to give community councils and the public time to review and submit comments to the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC).
 - The PZC will open a public hearing on January 6 and continue the public hearing to February 3.
 - After closing the public hearing, the PZC will deliberate and forward its recommendations to the Anchorage Assembly.
 - The Assembly will receive the PZC's recommendations in early 2025 and schedule its public hearing for final action.
